

Fuel a robust local economy and support long-term health and wellness for all Oregonians by supporting Oregon's small-scale farms, farmers markets, and growing food hubs. Farmers markets and Community-Supported Agriculture work with SNAP and Double-Up Food Bucks to make their products accessible to a wide range of Oregonians. Regenerative farming methods preserve rich Oregon soil while producing hearty produce and proteins. With changing climate and unpredictable support at the Federal level, shoring up our local small-scale farms ensures Oregonians will thrive.
