I love the state of Oregon and all that it has to offer. Myself and my wife love exploring BLM roads and hiking trails. We live in a rural area and have access to what we like to do within 8 to 10 miles. In order to explore these areas with our sxs we have to hook up the trailer, load up the sxs and drive the 8 miles and unload the sxs leaving our expensive truck and trailer vulnerable to who ever comes by while we are out having fun. We would love to be able to leave the house with our sxs (which is already street legal) and explore without the worry of whether or not our truck got broken into. Also we love the outdoors so we will leave it better than the way we found it.

Thanks for considering making these vehicles legal on the country roads.
