My family has owned side by sides for years now. Two of three are equipped with blinkers, brake lights ,horn, hazards, etc. because safety is an issue for us and our many friends who have done the same. We believe these machines are safer than typical permitted road vehicles because they have roll cages, exoskeleton lower protection, four and five point safety harnesses, and more in case of an accident. All of the people we know that own side by sides would very muck like to utilize the road system for adventuring, market trips, dinner, and more and keep in mind that these are light weight vehicles which are fuel efficient and four wheel drive unlike a large percentage of the liscenced vehicles already on our roads.
