It's been along time coming, we are way behind the times on this law. There are multiple states where it is legal for side by sides to be driving on main roads allowing riders to get from on trail to the next. It should be no different in Oregon. It is no different than driving a car most people are safe and abide by rules then you have the small percentage that speeds and breaks laws don't discipline the rest of us because some individuals can't handle it. Pass the law if it causes to much issues change it back to not street legal simple as that.
