I believe having off road vehicles would be no different than having e-bikes, one wheels or electric scooters on the road. It is without a doubt rules/laws will be strictly upheld for off road vehicles, unlike most other motorists stated above.

I do see this being very useful for farmers, hunters, fishermen, outdoorsmen, explorers and others traveling by public road way that would like to travel in the conveniency of an atv or four wheeler. This would be greatly beneficial when inclement weather or conditions when traveling by passenger vehicles isn't ideal during those times. Plus tourism would be a good income for local business who are near trails or forests areas.
