Measure, Appointment or Topic: HB3155

I support HB3155 100% this is a great hobby a lot of us enthusiasts have been doing for many many years. Many states like Washington, California, Nevada, Idaho, Arizona, and Texas already permit this and have thrived. This measure also benefits the economy for example the use of gas, registration, plates, insurance and local businesses to upgrade the toys for legal use on roads. I personally already carry full coverage insurance even though I drive it only on the dunes. For us enthusiasts that love the hobby have gone through the Oregon All terrain vehicle safety course and are granted a safety education card. Granting this measure would need tougher regulations to prevent misuse for example higher infraction rates, tougher driver penalties (SR 22's, Suspensions, revocations of driving privileges) make the roads and use of these toys safe for everyone all around. If we already have rules and laws to follow in the sand dunes we must also have rules and laws on the road for us to protect ourselves and community members.
