As a nurse on strike, the only way I can support myself was to take out a loan on my retirement fund. If i was a new grad I wouldn't have been able to be on strike. I went on strike for my patients and their safety. When we have executives making millions and we can't hire staff because they say there is no money. They blatantly lie to the community and legislature constantly. When will these big corporations that say they are for the patients and workers be held accountable and how? Nurses shouldn't have to go into financial ruin to fight for a better future for our patients and ourselves.
