Hello.

As a 20 year Oregonian film worker and business owner, having the OPIF tax credit is essential to keeping a thriving, creative, caring, organized and employable worker base in the state. Before this program, competing film production incentives were beginning to draw away Oregonians and their high level, skilled and competitively salaried jobs. These are families who put their income back into their houses their communities. Film is a clean, highly localized and cash quick industry, and the people who work in Oregon to make media are some of the best at their jobs in the US. And are proud, voting Oregonians.

Thank you!
