I'm writing this in response to a testimony that I have in regards to the $500 granted to teachers and educators who qualify for a specific amount of hours achieved. This money has really helped me pay off bills and debts that I had Ling around for a while and also helped my spouse with things she also needed to have paid off. Looking forward to the next, as this will also help us pay off more debt we have and also able to put some aside for savings which we only can put very little each month.
