As a tax payer, it is my right to know where and how my tax money is used. I want to know if my tax money is used on people and on resources that are dedicated to take care of me and my community, those who has been there for us through all the thicks and thins. Or the resources and money are spend to have hospitals waste them and use as weapons against the dedicated staff by paying strike breakers who have no dedication, loyalty, or most needed skills to take care of us safely. Hospitals say they can't afford to give their own employees what they are owed, but keep spending money on the strike breakers without hesitation. It is obligation of hospitals to let public know where our money is spend, and it is my right to know how my tax money is being used.
