Measure, Appointment or Topic: SB547

I fully support Senate Bill 547. Native plants are an incredibly important part of our ecosystem. Implementing an appreciation month for natives will open up education that is desperately needed to help our vast landscape thrive. This will help our native insects, animals, and plants, who we have seen many in decline. We need these intricate relationships to continue. I urge the Senate to think about our future and the community efforts we need to keep our planet healthy, and this bill will be a great step forward.
