Hector's Ohtli award is a great acknowledgement for his tireless effort to represent the Hispanic/Latino community at every table and venue he can. As I thought about how to describe Hector's involvement, the word ubiquitous came to mind. Hector is and has been everywhere I have gone and quite often, the person who reached out to invite ME to be part of the conversation. His involvement it is not limited to Hispanic/Latino issues and community issues. Anyone at risk or underrepresented are his interest. An example of this is how he reached out to the Muslim community post 9/11.

The recognition the Oregon Senate can add to his Ohtli award is a fitting add from the State of Oregon for his life's work in the community and specifically in Cornelius.
