As a person who grew up going to summer camp every summer and benefitting from the time in nature spent hiking, canoeing, and singing around the campfire, I have always wished that my child could have the same experiences. Sadly, there has never been a summer camp option that is designed to work for my child who is autistic and minimally speaking. I enthusiastically support the program, not only for the kids and their families, but to help train a whole new group of SLP in AAC.
