I'm an Oregonian through and through, born and raised. I've been working in the film industry since 2007. I began my career in NY, before the industry picked up in Portland. The tax incentives are a valuable driver in bringing media production to Oregon. Media production offers Oregonians living wage jobs and contributes greatly to the economies in which we operate. I support raising the tax incentive, thus creating more living wage jobs and a stronger, more diverse economy.
