

Submitter: Dennis McKim

On Behalf Of:

Committee: House Committee On Judiciary

Measure, Appointment or Topic: HB2774

Rep. Evans intentionally drafted this bill in a vague manner. It achieves two key objectives:

It places the state between parents and their children, a common tactic among Democrats.

It creates a loophole wide enough to drive a truck through, allowing for "certain (unspecified) acts with a firearm." This vague language could be interpreted broadly, paving the way for state-approved Supervisors to intrude on families for nearly any firearms-related offense.