I wrote a text before... this is Sarah Jean just confirming I am not opposing I accidentally put opposing in the last message I wrote.

My son is five diagnosed autistic at 2 and 1/2 he goes to Alyce hatch center bend Oregon he wouldn't be where he is today without these services and we must continue to do them we can't imagine not having them we still struggle and need them. Teachers need these tools to help our kids succeed, we don't need teacher burn out and teachers quitting due to lack of support and tools they need to help our kids. Adults now even are just getting diagnosed and are a working part of our society just like everyone else. These kids are the next generation. This is a growing concern more and more kids with these issues. Thank you.
