I live within 25 miles of the raceway and often have my grandchildren over to play outdoors. I see no reason that lead should be a part of the air we breath. Cars run just fine without lead. Wouldn't it make sense to require race cars to do the same? If none were allowed to burn lead than it would still be an even race. The issue of lead in gasoline has already been decided and outlawed nationally. Lets do the same for the citizens of North Portland!
