This bill should absolutely be supported because it will enable more film productions to choose Oregon for filming. These tax credits have already been vital to bringing some of the major productions employing myself and many of the filmmaking community in 2024. These people chose film as a line of work because they love it, but also because art absolutely contributes to the betterment of society. More people who engage with that expression while simultaneously being able to earn enough for their livelihoods will result in more people expressing themselves, connecting with their communities, and becoming increasingly aware about the issues in society that Film can help address.
