Every weekend in Portland's Old Town, I work hard to have dollar bills shoved down my g-string and bra while having to be oodled by OLCC secret shoppers looking for health violations, and what does Portland do? They take the highest local tax rate on tips in the country.

I work HARD for my money - and these empty resolutions do nothing about the fact you are stealing from my performance work to fund DEI initiatives that make the public feel guilty when tipping a white - or especially Asian - girl even though my black sisters are so much more endowed with booty. On top of that, we have to pay ASCAP/BMI now on every lip sync because of the OLCC.

You say you want to respect drag - give a workin' girl a break. This resolution is about as empty as a native land acknowledgement.
