

Submitter: Bill Bold

On Behalf Of:

Committee: House Committee On Climate, Energy, and Environment

Measure, Appointment or Topic: HB2038

All the items (a) through (g) have been covered by other studies before and are known quantities. Why is the state spending tax dollars on issues usually covered by federal government research? The exception may be (h) on thorium however I bet this has been reviewed at the federal level before as well. Why don't we simply use existing information.