

Submitter:	A Medford
On Behalf Of:	Creative Mind Counseling
Committee:	Senate Committee On Health Care
Measure, Appointment or Topic:	SB61

As a mental health provider who accepts Medicaid clients who receive that support for (often) greater challenges than those with commercial health insurance, it feels unreasonable to allow clawbacks from the providers who provide the (oftentimes) more strenuous support to those individuals. Our industry is challenging enough - working through current stressors with populations most directly affected by the changing political landscape - and mental health therapists deserve to feel secure in their livelihood in order to continue providing the very important service that we do.