Bill/Measure: HB 3012

House Committee on Rules: I am opposed to HB3012. Having worked in medical field for many decades I am well versed in the scientific evidence of the average age for full development of emotional intelligence for adults and it is AGE 25! To expect that a 16 or 17 year old is capable of or even desirous of making important decisions regarding school district elections has already been scientifically proven to be impossible. Age 21 is even a push, but at least at this age they may have some capacity to process thoughts sufficient to make sound decisions. The reasons for this bill are devious at best. I ask you to use your critical thinking skills and common sense and DROP this bill.
