SB61

This legislation is an important step toward common sense in auditing providers of important mental health services to the most vulnerable people in our state. Audits can and will still happen but providers who make errors will be responsible for common sense clawbacks. The current system allows for clawbacks of sums of money that far exceed the mistaken claims and result in providers going out of business. And this means fewer and fewer providers will provide services to clients who need them out of fear of this radical and disproportionate extortion that can come from clerical errors. Thank you for voting yes and bringing common sense to this important issue.
