No Tax on Tires. If the intended funds are not going towards our crumbling roads and bridges, but other projects not affiliated with driving a vehicle, this is an awful proposal. People paying a tax for something they use should benefit directly from the funds it helps generate, such as road quality and bridge quality. Our legislature constantly complains about needing more funding for road infrastructure, and here would be such an avenue for funding. Yet this is earmarked for anything, not for what makes sense.

Bring common sense back to government please. What we have now doesn't work for Oregon. Just look at our roads, and be honest with yourself.
