As an Oregonian I am tired of this state's constant badgering of its citizens for more and higher taxes on just about every facet of our lives. This state receives billions and billions in revenues and somehow still needs to find more ways to take from its citizens. This is completely unreasonable. As citizens we each maintain our own budgets. We don't get to snap our fingers and ask for every other member of this state to pay for whatever we want. When you snap your fingers to increase the state budget to pay for garbage we don't want anyways that means our individual budgets have decreased. It's time for this state to take a hard and deep look at the waste, fraud, and corruption of our tax dollars, and to be better stewards of its citizens contributions. NO more taxes. NOT another cent. This state needs to be much better at real time transparency and accountability about exactly where our tax dollars are being spent. This state needs to live within its billions of dollars means and stop wasting our money and start being responsible about its spending. If you need ideas you need look no further than DOGE and start similar cuts here. Look further at every program that has been ineffective: no more tax dollars to fund illegals, drug use, gender ideology, racist initiatives, climate "crisis", homelessness policy that only makes the problem worse.
