Measure, Appointment or Topic: HB3587

As citizens, stakeholders, and activists, we are continually learning day by day what our First Nation neighbors and friends have known and practiced for ages: that true ecological health and abundance depends on honoring all our relations, human and non-human, and coordinating responsibility among our diverse communities. HB 3587 will do just that toward the goal of providing protection and sound stewardship of Oregon's iconic coast - its natural splendor, biodiversity, and recreational value - all of which also contribute to its being an economic asset to the people of Oregon, both locally and statewide. HB 3587 should also prove a good investment for addressing the unpredictable challenges of climate disruption. That said, I urge you to pass HB 3587.
