Committee: Joint Committee On Transportation

Measure, Appointment or Topic: HB3362

As much as I don't like added taxes or fees (remember when I'm not volunteering as a small town mayor I'm a mama and wife trying to keep food on my table too) sometimes they are worth it for the greater good.....but this... I can't wrap my head around it.

My husband works in the automotive manufacturing industry I know that costs are crazy right now and that's why it is crazy high prices to buy a tire.... But if we are going to tax something let's put it towards what that person buying the tire is usingroads not public transportation.

This puts added cost burdens on only the people who don't use public transportation.

We put a lot of wear and tear on my husband's car for him to commute to his job over an hour away for us to be able to afford to live in a town that we can raise our children, that means lots of wear on tires and the need to replace them.... He has to be at work before 4am, public transportation isn't an option for him and this would penalize us like many others to fund a transportation system that we can't use
