As a current student teacher, I have found myself in a difficult financial situation. In between my placement and university classes, there are simply not enough hours in a week to work enough to pay for rent, food, and other basic necessities. Sincerely the only reason I have been able survive is through the help I have gotten from my mother and siblings. However, not everyone is so lucky. I hope that future student-teachers will not have to go through similar financial hardships in the future.
