Measure, Appointment or Topic: HB3362

The American consumer is being hammered with so much cost of living expense that this measure is flat out stupid! It's just another example of "green delusion". If you start taxing tires, there will be repercussions. We consumers won't be able to afford them when the recommended tread level becomes a risk and we'll all be driving on bald tires. Would you guys THINK before you concoct these undesirable and unnecessary taxes on Oregon residents. This is clearly an over reach. And like most green plans, it is not going to affect the earth at all. I don't remember voting for this tax, so you are not representing the people of Oregon. It is tax without representation. Don't do it!

Not signing this respectfully because you are not worthy of respect.
