Oregon is already one of the top states for taxing the citizens. We farm here in Central Oregon. Truck tires and tractors tires have already gotten really expensive. The state may not realize it but hay farming has been in a recession for two years. Many of the farmers are selling their crops for prices we haven't seen in 20 years. That is just how the market works. There's not enough cattle numbers to support the supply of forages. So while we're down you intend to give us a good swift kick to the throat. Thanks for nothing Oregon
