As humans we strive to be complete. We strive to be good. We want all the facts, to form opinions. How can we be individuals without our OWN opinions and beliefs? Let them have the materials that have differences in culture, religion, race and sexuality. Let them be individuals. Let them learn what the world is like and who is out there living. Not just who their family and friends are, but who is existing/has existed on the earth with them. Let them be free.
