Hello,

I work with children and have spoken to many teens who have talked about vaping. I feel like the vaping industry uses flavors to target teens and get them addicted at an early age, simply to maximize their profits.

As a 36 year old, I watched how the tobacco industry become very unpopular among my generation and it made me excited to see my generation end smoking. I'm a daughter of two smokers who thankfully quit over the last few years and I'd hate to see this dangerous habit re-emerge.
