Topic: SB78

This is an absolutely horrible bill. It is none of the government's business what size house a person chooses to build, as long as it meets normal zoning and building codes. How would you feel about it if you were rebuilding after a disaster and you weren't allowed to replace your home the way it was because it was slightly larger than the old one. Please have some common sense, live by the Golden Rule and stop infringing on Oregonians property rights.
