No. I am against this indoctrination apparatus. Climate change is just that. It is the world going through a cycle. Currently the earth is in a cooling cycle. Real science and archeology has concluded that the earth has went through many cycles via climate changes. Heating cycles, cooling cycles. Freezing cycles etc.

The state seems hell bent on using only certain studies that aren't peer reviewed and don't have the proper testing to make honest education on this subject. Al Gore started this trash back in the it's and has changed his tune multiple times after many doomsday conspiracies.

The earth regardless of what we humans do to teach or try to control the climate is going to change. We will not change that and the honest efforts that we could do to change things like wildfire reduction through proper forest management is turned a blind eye to even though one fire creates millions of tons of carbon and also burns carbon eating trees.

Vote NO on this senseless bill. Vote no on indoctrination. We need proper education not social justice manipulation and indoctrination.

No on HB 3365
