Oh, I miss the days of standing in line at GI Joe's waiting for them to open and start selling tickets!

You had a chance then, now you might not notice that while you were waiting in the Que to order, someone or a bot has been buying tickets. When your time comes, you buy yours, from the afore mentioned ticket buyer, or bot, for an inflated price.. And you don't even know it. There has to be a way that tickets are sold in a fair way, it can't be that hard . Thank you for your time
