I have not spent long in the SPED field, yet I know that funding is a major issue. Every week the IAs in the room try and prompt ideas to benefit the children, and they're met with, "that'd be cool if we could do that, but..." Every staff member has had to use their own pocket money to supply the classroom, sometimes supplying it with necessary items, such as bathrooming supplies. My hope is that removing the cap would encourage more funding into SPED, and create a stable environment for students who desperately need it.
