Without goal setting we can't measure our success. These suggested targets are in line with international standards and the U.S. National Climate Assessment. Our current targets were set in 2007 and are very out of date. As the sustainability coordinator at Reed College, I am currently working on similar strategic planning and goal setting. Oregon can be a leader in this work.

Climate change is harming us already, and needs to be addressed and mitigated with creative and comprehensive actions.
