We have the closest thing to an authoritarian federal government than I ever imagined seeing in my lifetime; the last thing we should be doing in Oregon is passing laws that could restrict the civil liberties of our people. We have seen how unjustly terrorism charges are used against protestors and activists throughout the country. Oregon should not be passing laws that could allow law enforcement and prosecutors to label people exercising their rights as terrorists. Our country is under attack and our people need to be able to protest and exercise their rights without threat of domestic terrorism charges.
