Measure, Appointment or Topic: HB3856

This bill is designed to transfer the funding of Oregon Department of Fish and Wildlife from the general fund, where it is a part of the state budgeting process, to a new funding source that lies outside of that budgeting process. Oregonians have the right to see where tax dollars are being proposed/allocated in the state's budgeting process and by enacting a new tax which lies outside of that process and is not subject to review this bill bypasses that established process.

I stand in opposition to this bill on those grounds.
