Here's a strong opposition statement to HB 3075, arguing against its extreme gun control measures on constitutional grounds:

Opposition to HB 3075: Protecting Constitutional Rights and Public Safety

House Bill 3075 represents an extreme overreach of government power that infringes upon the fundamental rights guaranteed by the Second Amendment of the United States Constitution. This bill imposes severe restrictions on law-abiding citizens, stripping them of their ability to exercise their right to keep and bear arms for self-defense, hunting, and other lawful purposes.

The Supreme Court has consistently reaffirmed that the right to bear arms is an individual right, and any law seeking to restrict this freedom must pass strict constitutional scrutiny. HB 3075 fails this test, as it does not target criminals but instead penalizes responsible gun owners. History has shown that overly restrictive gun control laws do not reduce crime but instead leave law-abiding citizens defenseless while criminals continue to obtain firearms illegally.

Furthermore, HB 3075 disregards the importance of responsible gun ownership, training, and education. Rather than imposing unconstitutional bans and restrictions, lawmakers should focus on enforcing existing laws and addressing the root causes of violence, such as mental health crises and illegal firearm trafficking.

I strongly urge lawmakers to reject HB 3075 and instead pursue policies that respect constitutional freedoms while effectively enhancing public safety.
