I am in support of allocating operational funding to the Oregon Film office. I have worked in the Portland film industry in the locations department for over 12 years. The Oregon Film office plays an important role in helping film projects choose Oregon as a film location, thus bringing a large number of jobs and money to the state. They provide support to projects of any size and help guide filmmakers through the permit and incentive processes. I communicate with the staff over there frequently and they have always been incredibly helpful. I feel like they are crucial to continuing to grow filming within Oregon.
