When I retire, I will be moving out of Oregon to a state that doesn't tax military pension, most likely Washington or Wyoming. I love Oregon, I don't want to leave, but I will. When I start collecting my pension, the state will take 30% of ($2,500 estimated). There is no reason for Oregon to tax any military pension especially those who served the Oregon National Guard. I'm still faithfully serving the Oregon Army National Guard; I plan on retiring at age 60. This could potentially assist with retention; know you can serve 20 years and receive you full retirement.

Do the right thing.
