Oregonians believe in taking care of those who have served our country. Let's demonstrate that commitment by exempting military pensions and retirement income from state taxes. This policy would not only support veterans but also strengthen our communities. Oregon should attract and retain veterans by exempting military pensions and retirement income from state taxes. Many veterans relocate to tax-friendly states, taking their skills, entrepreneurial spirit, and economic contributions with them. Providing this tax relief would benefit both veterans and Oregon's economy.
