Committee: Senate Committee On Early Childhood and Behavioral Health

Measure, Appointment or Topic: SB1167

Honorable Senators and Staff,

My name is Marissa Emery and I am a concerned Oregon resident. I am writing to express my full support for SB1167, which proposes to allocate critical funding and resources to support families and ensure the healthy development of children in Oregon during the crucial first 1,000 days of life.

As a mother of two, I've seen firsthand how essential early childhood education, maternal health, and community support are in the development of young children and whole families.

This bill provides vital funding through the Oregon Department of Administrative Services (DAS) for distribution to seven key entities across the state. These investments will strengthen vital programs, address disparities, and ensuring equitable access to care. SB1167 supports the development of a birthing village and critical care services for getting the right start for families where care deserts exist.

Funding for the first 1,000 days of a child's life (from conception to age two) is crucial because it's a critical period for brain development, laying the foundation for lifelong health and well-being, and addressing issues like malnutrition and poverty.

These investments are essential for improving maternal and infant health outcomes, reducing disparities, and ensuring families receive the support they need.

Studies show that countries that fail to invest in the well-being of women and children in the first 1,000 days lose billions of dollars to lower economic productivity and higher health costs. It is why several of the world's leading economists have called for greater investments in the nutrition and well-being of mothers, babies, and toddlers as a way to create brighter and more prosperous futures for us all.

I urge you to support SB1167 and make this investment in our state's future and our children. Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,
Marissa Emery
