

Submitter: Paul Donheffner
On Behalf Of:
Committee: House Committee On Judiciary
Measure, Appointment or Topic: HB3076

The new dash-1 amendment should be labelled "put all the gun dealers out of business ACT" because that is what it will do. This is so sneaky, to introduce a "simply study" bill and then do a "gut and stuff" into something that is dramatically different. Posting it 24 hours before the hearing, with no fiscal impact statement, the committee should be ashamed of operating in such an underhanded fashion. All of the previously submitted testimony is all for naught. Shame on you.

This bill has so many "gotcha" features that a simple gun dealer will need a full time lawyer on premises to keep them from trouble. Compliance costs will be enough to drive these small businesses under, which is clearly the intent behind this monster. No gun dealers = no gun sales. The 114 crowd will finally get their wish, and all honest law abiding citizens will be screwed. Meantime criminals will still get guns.

This is such an undemocratic way to operate. The lack of transparency and contempt for voters is reaching a new all time high. Leave small business alone, they are already regulated by the ATF. Enough is enough. HELL NO on HB3076