

Submitter:

Robert Estes

On Behalf Of:

Committee:

House Committee On Rules

Measure, Appointment or Topic:

HB3166

Confidence in elections is a top tier issue. Ranked choice voting is complex, and the count will have to be computer automated. This will cast a perpetual shadow on results. The paradoxes in various methods of it have been critically analyzed since the 18th Century. The only favorable argument for it is saving the cost of run-offs. This argument is overwhelmed by the need for confidence in elections.