If a young person joins the military at 18 and is on the front lines saving lives with a military weapon but can't come home and go target shooting or hunting with his friends until they are 21 is just wrong. We have allowed young people to now make decisions on their own about what sex they want to be or their pronouns and name change at 14 because they are mature enough to make those decisions and yet you can't drink alcohol or get a tattoo or own a firearm until you are 21 because you aren't mature enough for that decision is completely backwards.
