I'm writing today in opposition to HB3076. I 100% expect to once again feel completely ignored by my state legislature when my rights do not align with the agenda of tyrants. My biggest objection HB3076 is the declaration of an emergency upon passage. There is no emergency when you are implementing a tax on legitimate businesses. Please define the emergency or admit there isn't one and the legislature simply wants to insure that this cannot be challenged by the voters. Admit that the goal is to push gun dealers out of business. You all know it as well as every gun owner and every gun dealer knows it. This legislatures time and resources would be better spent passing laws that properly allocate funds to educate our kids and clean up the streets from the homeless wastoids that infest our cities. Stop trying to punish the law abiding. Running gun dealers out of business with onerous taxation will only proliferate a black market that you will never be able to stop or control. Only the federal government can regulate an FFL not the states.
