Chintimini offers a vital services to our community, from rehabilitation to education, and is done so purely by the passion and dedication volunteers and local donations. When me and my Fiance moved from Las Vegas to Oregon two years ago we were lucky enough to have Chintimini work with Oregon State University to offer a volunteership program. Through volunteer time this program offers my Fiance will be able to pursue her passions within the field of wildlife rehabilitation.

Chintimini is a net positive for the Willamette valley and takes nothing in return. It's about time we lend our support back.
