This bill recognizes the value of "nature's engineers" in remediating public land waterways for pollution. But there's more that beavers do. There is ample evidence that lands populated with beavers have reduced wildfire risks as well as improved overall habitat for many Oregon critters. In this time of climate change, beavers can and should be our partners in creating the most resilient environments to handle those adverse impacts. Please support this important bill so beavers are protected in public lands.
